Environment, natural resources dialogue make first stop in Sarawak

KUCHING: Universiti Malaysia Sarawak (Unimas) and Sarawak hosted the first stop of dialogue sessions that will be held across the nation.

'Dialogue Sarawak: Unimas with Majlis Profesor Negara, industries and local communities' discussing environment and natural resources issues was held at the DeTar Putra Unimas yesterday by Unimas and National Professor Council (MPN) as well as players of industries and local communities.

According to Dialogue Sarawak organising chairman Prof Dr Mohd Tajuddin Abdullah, there were 100 participants from various higher learning institutes, industries and representatives of local communities.

"These issues are important in achieving sustainability and well-being of local communities and the rich heritage of natural resources of the state.

"Through the interaction, participants get to share their ideas and expertise to integrate holistic and cross sector approaches in sustainable development in the state," he said.

The dialogue was moderated by Professor Emeritus Datuk Dr Ibrahim Kamoo, the head of 'Kluster Sumber Alam dan Alam Sekitar (SAAS).

The programme also saw the presentation of issues related to the environment and natural resources, socio-cultural and economy.
