Tajuk : Discussion On Learning Sciences At Unimas.

The Star, Sarawak, FRIDAY 17 MAY 2013

NEWS S9

KOTA SAMARAHAN: Universiti Malaysia Sarawak's (Unimas) Faculty of Cognitive Science and Human Development will hold the first ever MSc Learning Sciences Colloquium.

It will be at the university's Centre for Academic Information Service (CAIS) Auditorium on Saturday.

Unimas is the first university in Malaysia to offer the Masters in

Discussion on Learning Sciences at Unimas

Learning Sciences as part of its post-graduate programmes.

The colloquium will introduce the public to the diversity of the field of learning sciences.

The event will also serve as a platform to discuss the latest developments, matters of interest as well as new focus in the field of Learning Sciences.

Themed "Rethinking Learning", the colloquium will showcase the work of students currently undergoing Masters programme in Learning Sciences.

The highlight of the event will be the series of presentations by the first cohort of the programme as they present their literature review papers to a panel comprising of lecturers from the faculty and invited guests at the CAIS Auditorium.

The colloquium is open to the public.
